TRAFFIC DIVISION

The offices of the Traffic Division and Traffic Violation Bureau are located on the first floor, rooms Nos. 104, 105, 106 and 107, of the Police Headquarters Building, 1200 Clark avenue.

The Traffic Violation Bureau was opened on July 1, 1928, and was established for the purpose of having violators of minor traffic laws appear at this bureau within three days of the issuance of an arrest notification, waive trial and pay a scheduled assessment for the violation committed. It is also to expedite court cases and save a violator the time of going to court and spend considerable time waiting for his or her case to be called, whereupon by payment of cost in the bureau, the case will be disposed of without delay.

Work performed in Bureau:

Number of cases handled.....	48,029
Number of cases paid.....	8,679
Number of cases sent to court.....	39,350
Fines collected.....	$26,417.00

This division maintains ninety automatic traffic signals installed at various intersections throughout the city.

On February 28, 1931, twelve horses were transferred from the Mounted Police District to the Traffic Division stable, located on the northeast corner of Twelfth boulevard and Clark avenue. These horses are being used by mounted traffic officers assigned to checking duty on Commission Row and from Third street east. On March 30, 1933, six additional horses were purchased, making a total of eighteen horses for this duty and, therefore, the territory for mounted duty was extended to Twelfth boulevard.

The Traffic Division is in command of the following:

John Y. Goodin, Captain

Cliff D. Reber, Lieutenant

Carl W. Johnson, Lieutenant

THE POLICE TRAINING SCHOOL

The Police Training School is located on the second floor of the Police Gymnasium Building at 223 South Twelfth boulevard.

On March 12, 1928, the school was reorganized and the method of instruction changed. The course of training was extended from four to six weeks. Text books were eliminated and instruction by lecturers was substituted. A daily schedule of eight hours is still maintained. Competent instructors connected with the Police Department lecture new recruits on the Constitution, Government, criminal law, city ordinances, organization and duties of policemen, city police geography, tours of observation and inspection, etc. Special training in the construction of official reports, state and city traffic laws, and first aid instruction is given prominent place in the course. Experts from the Tracing Bureau, Bertillion room and Automobile Bureau explain the respective activities of their divisions. Drill, target practice and instructions in the proper handling of firearms, and physical training receive special attention.

Office of the Drillmaster

Lieutenant Nick Bosch, Jr., Drillmaster

Henry W. Abeken, Physical director

Nary H. Phillips, Sergeant

Joseph J. Moran, Sergeant

The Drillmaster has charge of the physical training and drilling of the members of the force in prescribed military tactics and in the proper handling of all firearms and gas agents. It is his special duty to impress upon the members of the force the necessity of maintaining at all times a soldierly bearing, discipline, military neatness and promptness in the discharge of their duty.

All officers of the department are required, for a period of four years from date of appointment, to attend Gymnasium drills on their own time, while on the first and second platoons. During the months of July and August, swimming is substituted for gymnasium drills. Classes of probationary patrolmen newly appointed and assigned to the Police Training School receive one hour gymnasium work each day, and for one hour and fifteen minutes each day during their six weeks training at the school, they receive instructions in military drills, discipline, courtesy, neatness, and the art of self defense, searching of prisoners, the disarming of armed criminals, and the use of firearms and gas agents. All students of the training school are required to qualify in the department revolver course before leaving the school.

All officers of the department, physically able, are required to shoot and qualify in the department revolver course. This practice is held annually during the months of January, February and March. Officers qualifying as experts are awarded a gold expert button; as sharpshooter, a gold button stating such rank; as marksman, a bronze button stating such rank. The buttons are worn on the left lapel of the uniform coat. Experts also are permitted the privilege of accumulating four recreation days. Officers failing to qualify are required to take special training in revolver shooting on their own time after the regular target practice season. This they continue until such time as they are able to qualify. These classes are held immediately following the annual qualification shoot. The complete shooting scores and annual shooting rating of each individual officer of the department are recorded.

Following the annual qualification shoot, an individual competitive match is held for the officers qualifying as experts. The regular department revolver course is used, and the three officers shooting the three highest scores are ranked as the three best revolver shots in the department and are awarded a gold, silver and bronze Commissioners' medal, according to the order they place.

During the summer months each of the sixteen districts and divisions organize revolver teams to compete against all other districts according to a set schedule. At the end of the season the district winning the most matches is awarded a bronze plaque, which is their permanent property, and also a championship banner, which is awarded to the winner from year to year.

During the past few years this banner has been held by the following districts:

- 1932—Central District.
- 1931—Secret Service Division.
- 1930—Central District.
- 1929—Central District.
- 1928—Secret Service Division.
- 1927—Eighth District.
- 1926—Sixth District.

On May 14 and 15, 1932, the department revolver team was sent to Jefferson City, Missouri, to participate in the revolver matches held there by the Missouri State Rifle and Pistol Association, and won the four team matches entered, thereby winning silver trophies for each match. The team also won twenty gold silver, and bronze individual medals in other matches.

The Police Officers' Revolver Club, which is sponsored by the department, is open to all members of the department. This club has greatly increased the shooting scores of many members of the department. The club meets regularly each week at the Headquarters target range.

Research Bureau

This Bureau was created in 1928. In exercising one of its functions it employs the system of Forensic Ballistics, which is sometimes referred to as bullet fingerprinting. Briefly, it is the scientific investigation and identification of bullets, shells and firearms based solely on facts determined with mechanical accuracy, and in which human opinions have no part or place. These investigations are carried on with a specially designed and highly perfected type of comparison microscope, the particular function of which is to fuse into a single one, the image of two bullets or shells, so that in case the markings on each are identical, the composite picture produced will reveal, after the identical markings or grooves have been located and brought into approximation, what appears to be a single bullet or shell rather than the fusion of two. Unless two bullets have been discharged through the same barrel of a firearm they cannot be so fused that they will present the appearance of a single bullet, the picture always evidencing marked differences in its two halves. This same result will be obtained in the case of shells which have, or have not, been discharged from the same arm, those having been fired from the same arm being easily matched and others cannot be matched. Forensic Ballistic evidence was successfully used by the department in several cases recently. This Bureau also makes all photographs and plans of scenes of homicides, auto accidents, arsons and affrays.

POLICEWOMEN'S BUREAU

The Policewomen's Bureau was organized in 1916. In 1918 it was made a part of the Secret Service Division and a woman supervisor was placed in charge. When, after several months, she resigned, a detective sergeant was made its commanding officer and this arrangement is in effect now and working satisfactorily.

At the present time, the Policewomen's Bureau is composed of 21 women and a detective sergeant. Three of these are, however, carried as police matrons, leaving the limited number of 18 policewomen.

The Policewomen's Bureau is an auxiliary to the police force. Its work is confined strictly to actual police duty, constructive work being left to the many highly organized social agencies of the city, from whom the bureau receives most cordial co-operation.

The following is a statistical report of arrests made and duties performed by the policewomen for the year ending March 31, 1933:

SYSTEM OF COMMUNICATION

Radio Station KGPC, of the St. Louis Metropolitan Police Department, is operated on a frequency of 1712 kilocycles from the top floor of Police Headquarters Building, and is regarded as the most modern and efficient means of communication.

An electric signal map of the city, equipped with red, green and white lights to designate the various scout cars, beat patrols and detective cruisers, operated by switches on the dispatcher's desk, enables him to keep an accurate check on the moves of radio equipped cars, and an electric street indicating device is used by the dispatcher in locating streets.

Three teletype sending machines, located in the Chief's outer office, sixteen receiving machines in the various districts, Secret Service Division and Automobile Bureau, also six machines with two-way service, located in St. Louis County police offices, comprise the teletype system, a telephone typewriter service over which approximately 130 messages are recorded in the various offices daily.

Approximately 5,000 telephone connections daily are completed through Bell telephone equipment, which consists of a 91 station automatic exchange, a two-position main switchboard, and a one-position switchboard in the Secret Service Division. About 2,000 calls are handled daily over a municipal switchboard located at Police Headquarters. This is part of a municipal system, connecting with fourteen district switchboards, which connect with 624 patrol boxes throughout the city, as well as with various city institutions.

Riot call alarms from different places, such as the City Hall, Federal Reserve Bank, City Treasury, Post Office, cellrooms at Headquarters, and different burglar alarm systems, sound into the switchboard room.

Twenty-four dictographs are located in various offices throughout Headquarters Building, on direct lines with Secretary of the Board, Chief of Police and Chief of Detectives, keeping these officials in direct contact with various offices and department heads.

Signal call system bells which sound throughout Headquarters Building call persons who are away from their offices.

A total of 69,590 radio calls were disposed of during the year, including crimes and other cases, as set forth in the following statement:

ST. LOUIS POLICE RETIREMENT SYSTEM

A bill was passed May 23, 1929, by the Missouri Legislature authorizing the creation, maintenance and administration of a police retirement or pension system. The bill was signed by Governor Henry S. Caulfield on June 11, 1929, and became a law October 1, 1929. This marks the successful termination of a campaign for police pensions in St. Louis which extends back about forty years. The bill was prepared with the assistance of George B. Buck, a New York actuary and an outstanding expert on police pensions. It was passed without any amendment whatsoever.

All members of the former St. Louis Police Pension Fund Association were taken over by the new organization after they had voted to dissolve, and all pensions paid by the former organization were assumed by the retirement system. The Pension Fund Association came into existence in September, 1925, the members paying five per cent of their salaries. The first member was pensioned on October 31, 1925. When taken over by the new organization there were 180 members or their dependents drawing pensions.

Under the new plan the City of St. Louis will contribute approximately $415,000 a year for about 30 years, and the contributions of members will average about 5.31 per cent of the payroll, or approximately $215,000 a year. The city's contribution will be on the same basis as the members after a period of 30 years, as estimated by the actuary.

All officers and employees of the Police Department employed by the Board of Police Commissioners for police duty are eligible for membership. All such officers and employees in service October 1, 1929, are included in the membership except those who prior to that date filed notices that they did not wish to become members. All officers and employees entering the police service after that date automatically become members of the retirement system as a condition of their employment.

Any member, regardless of his years of service, who attains the age of 60 in service, may retire at any time thereafter at his own request. When a member reaches the age of 70 he must retire unless, at the request of the Board of Police Commissioners, the Board of Trustees grants him an extension for one year, which can be further extended in one year periods, only at the request of the Board of Police Commissioners.

The retirement system has been designed to provide an annual retirement allowance of half salary to a member retiring at 60 with 35 years of service. Members with less years of service at age 60 will receive proportionately smaller annual retirement allowances, and those with more service at age 60 will receive proportionately greater retirement allowances.

Ordinary Disability Benefit—Any member who has credit for 10 or more years of service and who becomes permanently and totally incapacitated for performing his duty as a member of the Police Department, from any cause, may claim an ordinary disability benefit ranging from 25 to 45 per cent of his average annual compensation, the amount of such allowance depending on his length of service.

Accidental Disability Benefit—If a member is disabled as a result of an accident in the actual performance of duty, before becoming eligible for a service retiring benefit, he may claim an accidental disability retirement benefit regardless of his age or length of service. The accidental disability benefit consists of a pension of two-thirds of his average annual compensation for the previous 10 years, payable from the city's contributions plus an annuity, the amount of which is determined by the amount of the member's own contribution with accumulated interest at retirement.

Ordinary Death Benefit—If a member dies in service through causes not due to accident, in the actual performance of duty, all his deposits with interest are paid to his beneficiary, and in addition an amount equal to 50 per cent of one year's salary is paid to his beneficiary.

Accidental Death Benefit—If the member dies as a result of an accident in the actual performance of duty, there is paid, instead of the ordinary death benefit, an accidental death benefit under which his widow receives a pension for life of one-half of the average final compensation of the member. If there is no widow, or if the widow dies, or remarries, before any child of the deceased attains the age of 16 years, the same pension is paid to the child or children until the youngest one reaches the age of 16. If there is no widow, nor child, then the pension may be paid to the deceased member's dependent father or dependent mother, in addition the amount deposited by the deceased member with interest to the date of death are paid to his beneficiary.

Benefit on Withdrawal—If a member leaves the service of the department for any cause without receiving a benefit he may withdraw all his deposits with four per cent interest, compounded annually.

Contributions—Every member of the retirement system under age 60 is required to contribute to the retirement system a percentage of his salary depending upon his age at the time of entering the retirement system. His contributions will be deducted from his salary. The percentage rates of deductions are from 3.60 to 6.08 determined by the age of the member when joining the retirement system.

Administration—The administration of the retirement system is in the hands of a Board of Trustees representing the interests of the members of the Police Department of the city. The Board consists of the president of the Board of Police Commissioners; the Comptroller of the City of St. Louis, two persons appointed by the Mayor and three members elected by the members of the retirement system. The funds of the system are kept entirely distinct from the funds of the city, and are used exclusively for the payments provided by the retirement law. The expenses of operation are taken care of by a special contribution made by the city. The financial basis of the system follows that of a number of the recently established soundly financed state and city retirement systems, and members may have entire confidence in its financial stability.

The retirement system is governed by a Board of Trustees, composed of Hon. William L. Igoe, president, Board of Police Commissioners, and Hon. Louis Nolte, Comptroller of the City of St. Louis, ex-officio members; Hon. John B. Edwards; Col. Joseph A. Gerk, Chief of Police; E. H. Bartelsmeyer; Detective Sergeant Charles O. Gerlach and Patrolman John J. Lynch. Col. Gerk is chairman of the Board and Mr. Bartelsmeyer is secretary. The treasurer of the system is Hon. Henry C. Menne, City Treasurer.

THE POLICE JOURNAL

The Police Journal is the official organ of the Board of Police Commissioners and of the Police Department. It began the twenty-second year of its existence on April 1, 1933. It is a weekly newspaper, seven by ten inches, averaging twelve pages. The object of printing a paper of this kind is to keep the officers and employees in close touch with everything that is transpiring in the department and elsewhere, which it is to their interest to know, and to assist in welding the department into a harmonious and more effective unit for the prevention and eradication of crime in this community. All new ordinances affecting the department are published in the Journal, as are the proceedings of the regular weekly meetings of the Board of Police Commissioners. Whenever an exceptionally good arrest is made—police duty that stands out above the ordinary, everyday routine cases made by members of the force—the Journal prints the particulars of the case, giving the officers concerned full credit for their good work, thus encouraging other officers to be on their "toes" and do all in their power to perform similar service. The Journal also publishes many letters of commendation from citizens and visitors who are appreciative of the good work of the department.

"Efficient Police Make a City of Peace" is the slogan of the department. It was coined by Mr. G. H. Palin, of New York City, in 1924, for exclusive use of the Police Journal. It is being lived up to in a manner that is most convincing to those who are aware of the great handicaps under which a police department functions, not to mention the great hazards taken by officers daily in protecting the citizenship of any community against bandits. Officers of the department are not forgetting this apt slogan. Their splendid work in preventing crimes and in arresting violators after offenses against the law have been committed amply verifies this. The work of the officers of the department in stamping out crime in this community has improved yearly, and the publicity given good arrests in the department's paper has spurred the men on in their never-ending war against crime and criminals.

The Journal prints 3,200 copies a week. It has a mailing list which includes police departments of other cities, public libraries, sociological organizations and reputable citizens who are intensely interested in police work. So far as known it is the only weekly newspaper of its kind in the world. It is issued gratis to members of the department and others who have need for a publication of this character.

NOTE:—On May 20, 1933, for economic reasons the Police Journal was discontinued.

FIRST AID

The police officer is required to be proficient in rendering first aid to the injured. In the Police Training School he is given a course of instructions in first aid and required to pass an examination of his knowledge and proficiency before he is sent out on a beat.

Lectures and actual demonstrations of various types of first aid work, and also instructions as to the proper use of the inhalator with which various districts are equipped, are given.

There were 213 calls for inhalators from various parts of the city during the past year. Fifty-one persons were revived by its use, and in the remainder of instances 26 were cases where persons were not successfully resuscitated; 136 where inhalators were not used, for various reasons.

Police officers receive a certificate of award from the Red Cross for their proficiency in this connection.
